

The College of Medicine Michael Pittilo Essay Prize 2017

Our UK healthcare system is facing a time of great change and reform, impacting not only the patients we serve, but also care providers and healthcare professionals from a wide range of backgrounds. However, we are all united in a willingness to reform towards sustainable healthcare that epitomises health and wellbeing in synchrony and harmony. This year's summer conference will explore ways in which sustainability is redefining our health system but we also want to hear from you!

Sustainability

We warmly invite students from all health and social care professions and backgrounds to submit an essay for the esteemed Michael Pittilo essay prize 2017 to answer the following question:

'How can patients, communities, healthcare professionals and governing bodies work together to ensure sustainability of the healthcare system?'

Deadline: 9th July 2017
Word count: 1,500

Submit to: students@collegeofmedicine.org.uk

Good Luck. We look forward to receiving your entries!

College of Medicine

Kindly sponsored by:

Waitrose